YALE CREWS ON THE THAMES

Coach Kennedy Had Boats Out Monday Afternoon Late -Freshman Crew Smashed Their Shell Against the

Rain and examinations kept the members of the Yale crews in their Gales, Ferry quarters until five o'clock, on Monday, when the varsity fours went out on the river for the first practice since the arrival of the squad Sunday. Despite the rain, the water was smooth and the rowing conditions excellent. Under the eye of Coach Kennedy, the fours rowed down to the Navy Yard and back, each carsman receiving personal attention. The freshmen eight followed the fours over the same course, accompanied by Mr.

part of the past week, in which stocks were carried to the highest level of the year, the movement halted today. A mildly reactionary tendency developed, but the market offered such offective resistance to pressure that losses in most cases were small. The change in the character of the market from its strong, vigorous tone of last week seemed to be due to the varying temper of speculation, rather than to happenings which might have a bearing upon values, for the events of the day were rather more encouraging

New York, June 5.—Interest in the international polo cup series, with the American defenders in possession of the first game by a close score, will have to stretch over another 24 hours because of rain. The precipitation which delayed the first match from Wednesday to Thursday last week, was even heavier during the forenoon today and caused postponement of the today and caused postponement of the second contest. When the morning storm ceased today, the ponies trotted out of their stables for the customary afternoon gallop over the turf, while all the players were given mounts to keep the players were given mounts to keep the muscles limber and the eye and hand in good shape. On account of the un-certain conditions of the turk, the try out this afternoon was not as fast, because neither side cared to risk a strained tendon at this critisal stage of the contest for the cup. The lineup tomorrow will probably been opened for the fast trotters as a result of which the horse owners will have less reason to complain of the lack or earning capacity of their top-ntch performers. Andy Welch, who presides over the destinies of the Read-ville track, while he also virtually controls that at Martford Count has ontrols that at Hartford, Conn., has we races which will give the free for two races which will give the free for allers excellent opportunities.

At Deadville he has a $5,000 race, which he calls the American trotting Derby, because of its similarity in some respects to the celebrated $50,000 event of that name given under different management at the same track three years ago. Like the big race of 1908, it is a handicap affair, but instead of being open to horses of all degrees of speed is limited to those with records of 2.12 or better. They will be handicapped on the form which they have shown previously during the season, and the fastest horse, or horses, will be started from which they have shown previously during the season, and the fastest horse, or horses, will be started from the scratch, and will have to trot a mile and a quarter, while the slower ones will race shorter distances, proportionate to their comparative speed.

There will be two preliminaries and the final. In one preliminary the horses with records of 2.99 or better horses with records of 2.99 or better will race against each other for a will race against each other for will race against each other for a w purst of $1,000, while in the other one si the horses with records slower than 2.09 will race against each other for a like amount. In the final, which will be for the remaining $3,000 of the purse, the money winners in yoth the preliminaries will all race.

The plan is an ingenious one and the plan is an ingenious one and the class of the horses entered argues a fine contest. There have already been named the following: Persia Maid Joan 2.04 3-4. Hailworth 2.05 1-4, Sterling McKinney 2.06 1-4, Dudie Archdale 2.06 1-4, Billy Burk-2.06 3-4, Willy 2.07 1-4, Major Welling-ton 2.08 1-4, Remorseful 2.08 3-4, Creighton 2.09 14, Miss Stokes 2.09 1-4, Chimes Bell 2.69 3-4, and Jennie Contantine 2.11 1-4. Under the conditions additional horses may be named August 15 upon payment of a fee of $200, or double the amount which it cost to enter those originally named.

The race at Hartford is upon almost identical lines, except that it is for $2.000 instead of $5.000, and for the 2.15 instead of the 2.12 class, and is known as the Hartford handicap. Additional horses can also be named in it for a double entrance fee on August 21.

PITCHED ONLY SIX BALLS. Schaefer Tells of Human Corkscrew Who Lasted But Short Time.

"Germany" Schaefer, the senatorial clown, tells of a pitcher who stayed in the big league for a shorter period than any other twirler he knows any-thing about. It was while the German was toilling in the ball trenches at St. Paul that this happened. "I had a bum wing," said "Dutch," "and the manager laid me off for a week until manager laid me off for a week until the wing got better, and told me to go scouting and dig up a few pitchers. I started all right, and wound up in Crookstown, Minn, to watch a game there that was smoking through that little league "I hit the burg and watched him work. He must have been seven feet tall, and he looked like a human corkscrew. He was so tall that when he yelled to the third baseman it took 20 minutes for his voice to reach the other fellow. Smoke, holy smoke, that's what he had. Curves like a belle's, and everything that goes to ake up a pitcher.

"I nabbed him for our team, and before some other scout could get him I toted him down to St. Paul. He hung around for a day or two, and our pitchers were going so rotten that we stuck in the giant. He pitched six balls. Two of them assaulted batsmen, three went 10 feet outside, and the other went into the grand stand the other went into the grand stand The manager went over to the pitcher. He handed him some money, Beat up to Crookstown," said the mana-er. 'You will bankrupt this team ger. You will bankrupt this ger. You will bankrupt this buying flowers for the dead men you kill." And he did."

The Canadian trainer, Dan McEwen stallion The Eel. 2.02 1-4, two ago, has an exceptionally large stable in training this spring at London, Ont., and he will have a string to campaign that will measure up pretty well with those of the other well known trainers. McEwen is counting much on the first of The Eel's get, Silver Joe, a six year old pacer that worked a mile faster than 2.10 last fall. Another gray pacer by The Eel that has shown fast is Swift-line, a four year old, while a two line, a four year old, while a two year old gray colt by The Eel, out of Oro Delmarch, by Oro Wilkes, 2.11, is regarded as the fastest colt of his age ever produced in Canada.

McEwen also has a trotter of much promise by The Eel, a five year old chestnut gelding cailed Santoy, that worked in 2.16 last fail and that is in good form now, McEwen will race some of his stable on the half-mile tracks, but The Eel will probably not start over the two-lap tracks more than two or three times. He has been entered in the free for all class at Brockton for a $2,500 and at Goshen for a $2,900 purse and the pacer that proves good enough to beat the gray horse in these races will be acknowledged to be just about the half-mile track champion of 1911. full confidence in Manager Griffiths' ability and the strength of the team.
